Including Ginger in your party

Print out this file. (Print out the last page on thin card, as for the other items and abilities). When you create an envelope for each other character, also create one for Ginger. Into Ginger's you should put the background, cast list and rules from the main game, plus the character sheets, abilities, name badge and items from this file.

You will also need to add the following information to the appropriate character envelopes (you should add the blue pen item card to Amy's envelope):

Additional information for Daniel Perry: You have agreed to let Ginger Roberts interview you about your time on the concert circuit. You're not really sure what the article is all about, but no doubt Ginger will be able to tell you.

Additional information for Amy Morgan: You found a blue pen earlier on one of the chairs. It isn't yours.

‘Ginger’ Roberts

You are ‘Ginger’ Roberts – everyone calls you Ginger because of your red hair.

You are one of the finest freelance reporters and have a nose for a story. You have a knack for being in the right place at the right time – at least as far as the news goes.

You are here to see Robin Fay and Daniel Perry. They are famous musicians and you are interviewing them for a leading lifestyle magazine. They have agreed to answer questions on the difficulty of juggling a social and family life with spending long stretches of time on tour with an orchestra.

Of course, you didn’t plan on being snowed in – but you might have hit a newspaper jackpot as you are ideally placed to report on John Morgan’s death.

And if you can uncover other stories – so much the better. Your favourite stories are those that you can sell around the world. That would set you up for life and you could settle down, raise a family and retire. But at the moment there’s not much chance of that happening. In fact, you’re broke. So you’d better find a story here as quickly as possible.

The other thing it would be nice to find is someone to settle down and share the rest of your life with. You’re not really hopeful – but you never know!

You do have an immediate problem, however. You have a particularly fine blue pen which was given to you by your mother on the first day that you started working as a reporter. You’ve come to think of it as your lucky pen as you have had it with you on all your big news stories – and when you haven’t had it you haven’t been very lucky. And it’s gone missing. You had it earlier, so it must be around here somewhere, but you don’t know where.

Hints

Talk to everyone – find out who your friends are.

Use your abilities – there are no prizes for saving them.

If you help someone with their goals, they may help you with yours.

Goals

- Find your lucky pen: You must find your lucky blue pen! You just know that you won't find the juiciest stories without it!
- News: Find as many news stories as you can. Interview people, stick your nose in other people's affairs – and make yourself as big a nuisance as possible. But find those stories. At the end of the evening you will be asked which stories you're going to publish – so make sure that you keep notes during the evening.
- Cash: You are very short of cash. You might be able to make some money by finding out some secrets, and getting people to bribe you not to report it.
- Someone to settle down with: You never know, but you might be able to find someone to settle down and raise a family with here.
- Watch Your Back: You've made yourself some enemies in the past – reporting things that some people didn't want reporting. Some of those people might be here tonight – you can never be sure because you've written so much about so many people that you've forgotten much of it. Be careful.
