How does Pirate Island work?

Pirate Island has been written for 6 to 32 pirates aged eight and up. (You can play with younger pirates – but they will probably need some adult help.) All the pirates are organised into ship crews, and they must cooperate together to complete quests and win the pirate games. The crew with the most doubloons wins!

The step-by-step instructions explain which ships and which crewmembers to use so that you can tailor it to your party of pirates.

Pirate Island lasts for about an hour and is ideal as part of a larger party – such as a birthday party. Two or three adults are needed to run the party, and one person needs to prepare everything beforehand.

You will also need some pirate doubloons – plastic coins, poker chips, coloured plastic gems, or anything else that your pirates will enjoy using to represent the pirate money. How much you need depends on how large your party is, but about 15 per child should be plenty.
